Avoid the Flu

Healthy habits and simple actions will help reduce your risk of flu and other illnesses.

- Wash your hands. Use soap and water often, especially after coughing or sneezing. Carry alcohol-based hand cleaners in your car, backpack or purse when soap and water are not available.
- Keep your distance. Avoid close contact with people who are sick. If you're ill, stay home. You can help prevent others from getting sick.
- Cover your cough. Use a tissue when coughing or sneezing. It can prevent the spread of germs. If you don't have a tissue, cough or sneeze into your upper arm or elbow. Sneezing and coughing into your hand puts the virus in an excellent spot for further spreading of the disease.
- Don't contaminate. Try not to touch your eyes, nose or mouth. Germs are often spread this way, which is why hand washing is so important.
- Maintain good health. Get plenty of sleep. Drink lots of water and eat nutritious foods. Get regular exercise. Manage stress. Being healthy improves your immunity and helps fight the flu.
- Get a flu vaccination. Protect yourself against seasonal illness. It's the single best way to prevent the flu.
- Stay informed. For more flue prevention tips and resource links, visit www.ucdmc.ucdavis.edu/flu.

History & Mission

University of California

Founded in the wake of the gold rush in 1868, the University of California (UC) is a public university system in the U.S. state of California. Under the California Master Plan for Higher Education, the University of California is a part of the state's three-tier public higher education system, which also includes the California State University system and the California Community Colleges system.

Comprised of 10 campuses, 3 national laboratories, and 5 medical centers, the UC system has grown to more than 238,000 students, over 190,000 faculty and staff, and more than 1,700,000 living alumni, their missions being teaching, research, and public service.

UC's campuses provide exciting environments that foster world-class educational and research opportunities and generate a wide range of benefits and services that touch the lives of Californians every day.

UC's medical centers support the clinical teaching programs of the University's medical and health sciences schools and handle more than 3 million patient visits each year. Providing a full range of health care services in their communities, they are sites for the development and testing of new diagnostic and therapeutic techniques. Collectively, these centers comprise one of the largest health care systems in California.

UC Davis

Since 1908, UC Davis has transformed itself from a pioneering “ag” school into a university that is not only the largest UC campus, but is ranked among the top 10 public universities in the nation. With a student population of more than 39,000, UC Davis stands out as the only UC campus with professional schools in all of the following disciplines: business management, education, law, medicine, nursing and veterinary medicine.

UC Davis is widely known for specialties in agriculture, viticulture and enology, the biological sciences and veterinary medicine. Teaching and research are grounded in a century-plus tradition of excellence that stretches across all of the disciplines.

UC Davis Health

The history of UC Davis Medical Center dates to May 3, 1850 when the Sacramento City Council recommended that a hospital be built. The Sacramento County Hospital was established as a result, in 1852.

In 1871, the hospital was moved to a parcel of land on Stockton Blvd in Sacramento, CA which incorporates some of the buildings of the former Sacramento Medical Center (which was acquired from the County of Sacramento in 1973) as well as much of the land previously occupied by the California State Fair until its 1967 move to a new location.

A fire destroyed the original facility in 1876. Four years later, a new hospital designed by N.D. Goodell, architect of the Governors Mansion in Sacramento was completed and accepted by the county. It stood until 1914, when construction of an entirely new facility was proposed. The main hospital building was completed in 1928, and still stands today. It was incorporated into the north/south wing of the main hospital in 1950.

In 1965, the regents voted to establish a medical school at Davis, paving the way for the UC Davis Medical Center to be officially part of UC Davis in 1977.

Today, the health system includes one of the country's best medical schools, UC Davis School of Medicine, a 625-bed acute-care teaching hospital, the UC Davis Medical Center, an 800+member medical group and the Betty Irene Moore School of Nursing. Combined, it has over 10,000 staff and handles more than 900,000 visits a year.

The health system operates the only Level 1 trauma centers for both adult and pediatric emergencies in inland Northern California. It is also home to a Comprehensive Cancer Center, an international neurodevelopmental institute, a stem cell institute and a comprehensive children's hospital. Other nationally prominent centers focus on advancing telemedicine, improving vascular care, and translating research findings into new treatments for patients. Together, they make UC Davis a hub of innovation that is transforming health for all.

Teaching Hospitals: An academic approach to health care

What is a teaching hospital?

A teaching hospital or academic medical center is a hospital that is associated with a major medical and professional schools, such as UC Davis. Teaching hospitals conduct research to discover new and improved treatments for patients, and train medical students, nursing students, residents and others to become skilled medical professionals.

A medical student has completed college and is working towards an M.D. degree (short for “doctor of medicine”). He or she is learning basic skills such as how to communicate with patients and make diagnoses. Medical students are always directly supervised by a licensed physician.

A resident physician (resident) is a doctor who has completed medical school, earned an M.D. degree and is now undertaking intensive training for a medical or surgical specialty. Residents write orders and make care-related decisions under the direct supervision of a faculty (attending) physician.

The attending physician is the doctor who directs your care and provides oversight and guidance to fellows, residents and medical students. You may ask to see your attending physician if you ever feel additional clarification is needed.

Because of a rigorous three- to four-year training program, residents’ schedules change frequently as they learn about different aspects of their medical specialty. Residents and faculty team up to ensure comprehensive, timely, state-of-the-art, culturally sensitive and compassionate care. Your care will always be anchored by one of our many experienced, board certified physicians.

What are the advantages of a teaching hospital?

Because they are at the forefront of scientific development, teaching hospitals provide a distinctive brand of high-quality patient care, informed by the latest science and medical insights. UC Davis Health System is recognized nationally and internationally for excellence in patient care, teaching and research.

Patients find unique advantages at teaching hospitals, including access to:

- Advanced primary and specialty care
- New treatments and cures
- Help for the most complex and severe conditions
- State-of-the-art technologies, and
- The expertise of an accomplished physician faculty

Getting Around

Virtual Permits

Unless marked otherwise, all parking areas at UC Davis Medical Center, including off-site and leased facilities, are reserved for permit-only parking for staff, government or vendor/service vehicles. To use these areas, vehicles must display a valid permit and/or license plate. All permits must be authorized and issued by Parking Services. In lots 14, 16, 18 and 25, one-day permits can be purchased from a dispensing machine.

- The new permit management system offers expanded online services and virtual permits: No more lost/forgotten permits; your plate is your permit. If you have any questions please contact the parking office.
- Faculty, staff and students who hold a Disabled Person's parking placard or plate will need to acquire a DSB permit designation from Parking Services to use Disabled Spaces on the Sacramento campus
- Courier permits have a 3-hour maximum time limit unless otherwise posted and are valid in all UC Davis Health Courier designated parking spaces. Courier permits must accompany A, B, or D permit/ or license plate. (Not permitted in PS2 or PS3.)

Where to Park

- Permit holders may park in designated unattended lots anytime as posted on signs at the entrance to the lots.
- Permit holders (current A, B, or D permit/ or license plate) may park in attended parking lots only during the hours of 5:00 p.m. to 8 a.m., Monday-Friday and all day Saturday and Sunday.
- Motorcycle permit holders may park in designated motorcycle parking spaces only.
- Carpool (CP) permits have access to designated CP parking areas and B permit parking areas.

Parking Tips to Avoid Citations

- To ensure adequate patient/visitor parking, employees may not park in attended or metered parking lots during the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and may be subject to a parking violation citation.
- Read the signs at the entrance to lots and parking structures. This will let you know which permits are valid in that area.
- If a permit holder receives a citation, the citation should be paid or appealed within 21 days of the citation issuance date.

Reciprocity Agreement

The University of California campuses offer reciprocity of faculty and staff for parking permits. Each campus has a unique set of circumstances relating to various parking issues (parking spaces available, various rates, access by gate, kiosks, specific designated lots, etc.). Because of these differences the permit holder should contact the campus parking office to arrange reciprocal parking. Contacting the campus before a visit, afford faculty and staff the opportunity to know what to expect ahead of time.

When you arrive at the UC Davis Medical Center campus, contact the parking office to make them aware of your arrival. This will enable the host campus to give appropriate information about available parking and additional access if needed. The individual must present a current, valid parking permit from their home campus as well as a current UC ID in order to be eligible for reciprocal parking. If a different permit has been suggested for use during your visit, you may obtain that permit at no additional cost.

Reciprocity Among UC Campuses

Reciprocity among the UC campuses is for the purpose of expediting the university business for the faculty or staff member at the host campus and is valid for not more than five consecutive days. If an employee from another UC campus is working or teaching for a longer period than five days, they must purchase a permit appropriate to the host campus.

Note: Student permits do not have reciprocity. Students from other UC campuses must purchase parking at each individual campus according to the availability, rate, etc. for that campus.

Campus Climate & Culture

Definition: Diversity

Diversity is a defining feature of the University of California and we embrace it as a source of strength. Our differences — of race, ethnicity, gender, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, socioeconomic status, abilities, experience and more — enhance our ability to achieve the university's core missions of public service, teaching and research. We welcome faculty, staff and students from all backgrounds and want everyone at UC to feel respected and valued.

Definition: Cross Cultural Competence

- Organizational – Cultural competence in health care describes the ability of organized systems to provide care to patients with diverse values, beliefs and behaviors, including tailoring delivery to meet patients' social, cultural and linguistic needs.
- Individual – At the individual level, cultural competence refers to the ability to communicate and work effectively in cross-cultural and multicultural situations.

Culture and Language May Influence:

- Health, healing and wellness beliefs
- How illness, disease and their causes are perceived both by the patient/ consumer and the provider
- The behaviors of patients/consumers who are seeking health care
- The attitudes of patients/consumers toward their health-care providers
- The delivery of services by the provider who looks at the world through his or her own set of values.

Achieving Inclusion Excellence	37
Harassment & Discrimination Assistance and Prevention	39
Statement of Ethical Values	40
Standards of Ethical Conduct	41
Important Policies	48

To be culturally competent doesn't mean you are an authority in the values and beliefs of every culture. What it means is that you hold a deep respect for cultural differences and that you are eager to learn, and willing to accept, that there are many ways of viewing the world.
– Okokon O. Udo

Common Features of Culturally Competent Communication

- Flexibility with cultural differences
- Enthusiasm about inter-cultural/ cross-cultural relationships
- Willingness to communicate across cultures
- Effective conflict resolution skills

Five Steps to Cultural Competence

1. Awareness of self and the other: We are all unique in our experiences and perspectives. To appreciate the worldview of another, we must first understand our own.
2. Acknowledgement of differences and similarities: When we accept that it's natural for others to differ from us, then others can accept this as well.
3. Honest validation: We can respect the viewpoint of another without having to fully understand or agree with it.
4. Negotiation: Set ground rules for communication, identify common interests, establish trust, confirm expectations.
5. Action: Provide choices and options. Agree to a plan. Follow through.

Principles of Community

University of California, Davis:

Prologue: UC Davis is a diverse community comprised of individuals having many perspectives and identities. We come from a multitude of backgrounds and experiences, with distinct needs and goals. We recognize that to create an inclusive and intellectually vibrant community, we must understand and value both our individual differences and our common ground. The UC Davis Principles of Community is an aspirational statement that embodies this commitment, and reflects the ideals we seek to uphold.

Principles of Community

The University of California, Davis, is first and foremost an institution of learning, teaching, research and public service. UC Davis reflects and is committed to serving the needs of a global society comprising all people and a multiplicity of identities. The university expects that every member of our community acknowledge, value, and practice the following guiding principles.

We affirm the dignity inherent in all of us, and we strive to maintain a climate of equity and justice demonstrated by respect for one another. We acknowledge that our society carries within it historical and deep-rooted injustices and biases. Therefore, we endeavor to foster mutual understanding and respect among the many parts of our whole. We affirm the right of freedom of expression within our community. We affirm our commitment to non-violent exchange and the highest standards of conduct and decency toward all. Within this context we reject violence in all forms. We promote open expression of our individuality and our diversity within the bounds of courtesy, sensitivity and respect. We further recognize the right of every individual to think, speak, express and debate any idea limited only by university regulations governing time, place and manner.

We confront and reject all manifestations of discrimination, including those based on race, ethnicity, gender and gender expression, age, visible and non-visible disability, nationality, sexual orientation, citizenship status, veteran status, religious/non-religious, spiritual, or political beliefs, socio-economic class, status within or outside the university, or any of the other differences among people which have been excuses for misunderstanding, dissension or hatred. We recognize and cherish the richness contributed to our lives by our diversity. We take pride in all our achievements, and we celebrate our differences.

We recognize that each of us has an obligation to the UC Davis community of which we have chosen to be a part. We will strive to build and maintain a culture and climate based on mutual respect and caring.

-April 20, 1990; reaffirmed 1996, 2001, 2010, 2015

University of California

Standards of Ethical Conduct

Purpose

Pursuit of the University of California mission of teaching, research and public service requires a shared commitment to the core values of the University as well as a commitment to the ethical conduct of all University activities. In that spirit, the Standards of Ethical Conduct are a statement of our belief in ethical, legal and professional behavior in all of our dealings inside and outside the University.

Applicability

The Standards of Ethical Conduct apply to all members of the University community, including The Regents, Officers of The Regents, faculty and other academic personnel, staff, students, volunteers, contractors, agents and others associated with the University. Organizationally, the Standards apply to campuses, the National Laboratories, the Office of the President, the Division of Agriculture and Natural Resources, campus organizations, foundations, alumni associations and support groups.

1. Fair Dealing

Members of the University community are expected to conduct themselves ethically, honestly and with integrity in all dealings. This means principles of fairness, good faith and respect consistent with laws, regulations and University policies govern our conduct with others both inside and outside the community. Each situation needs to be examined in accordance with the Standards of Ethical Conduct. No unlawful practice or a practice at odds with these standards can be justified on the basis of customary practice, expediency, or achieving a “higher” purpose.

2. Individual Responsibility and Accountability

Members of the University community are expected to exercise responsibility appropriate to their position and delegated authorities. They are responsible to each other, the University and the University's stakeholders both for their actions and their decisions not to act. Each individual is expected to conduct the business of the University in accordance with the Core Values and the Standards of Ethical Conduct, exercising sound judgment and serving the best interests of the institution and the community.

3. Respect for Others

The University is committed to the principle of treating each community member with respect and dignity. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment and provides equal opportunities for all community members and applicants regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity, pregnancy, physical or mental disability, medical condition (cancer-related or genetic characteristics), ancestry, marital status, age, sexual orientation, citizenship, or status as a covered veteran. Further, romantic or sexual relationships between faculty responsible for academic supervision, evaluation or instruction and their students are prohibited. The University is committed to creating a safe and drug free workplace. Following is a list of the principal policies and reference materials available in support of this standard:

- The Faculty Code of Conduct
- Academic Personnel Policy Manual
- The Faculty Handbook
- Personnel Policies for Staff Members
- Policies Applying to Campus Activities, Organizations and Students
- Policy on Sexual Harassment and Procedures for Responding to Reports of Sexual Harassment
- University policies on nondiscrimination and affirmative action
- Campus, laboratory and Office of the President Principles of Community

The University's health sciences enterprises are committed to the ethical and compassionate treatment of patients and have established policies and statements of patient rights in support of this principle.

4. Compliance with Applicable Laws and Regulations

Institutions of higher education are subject to many of the same laws and regulations as other enterprises, as well as those particular to public entities. There are also additional requirements unique to higher education. Members of the University community are expected to become familiar with the laws and regulations bearing on their areas of responsibility. Many but not all legal requirements are embodied in University policies. Failure to comply can have serious adverse consequences both for individuals and for the University, in terms of reputation, finances and the health and safety of the community. University business is to be conducted in conformance with legal requirements, including contractual commitments undertaken by individuals authorized to bind the University to such commitments.

The Office of the General Counsel has responsibility for interpretation of legal requirements.

5. Compliance with Applicable University Policies, Procedures and Other Forms of Guidance

University policies and procedures are designed to inform our everyday responsibilities, to set minimum standards and to give University community members notice of expectations. Members of the University community are expected to transact all University business in conformance with policies and procedures and accordingly have an obligation to become familiar with those that bear on their areas of responsibility. Each member is expected to seek clarification on a policy or other University directive he or she finds to be unclear, outdated or at odds with University objectives. It is not acceptable to ignore or disobey policies if one is not in agreement with them, or to avoid compliance by deliberately seeking loopholes.

In some cases, University employees are also governed by ethical codes or standards of their professions or disciplines—some examples are attorneys, auditors, physicians and counseling staff. It is expected that those employees will comply with applicable professional standards in addition to laws and regulations.

6. Conflicts of Interest or Commitment

Employee members of the University community are expected to devote primary professional allegiance to the University and to the mission of teaching, research and public service. Outside employment must not interfere with University duties. Outside professional activities, personal financial interests, or acceptance of benefits from third parties can create actual or perceived conflicts between the University's mission and an individual's private interests. University community members who have certain professional or financial interests are expected to disclose them in compliance with applicable conflict of interest/conflict of commitment policies. In all matters, community members are expected to take appropriate steps, including consultation if issues are unclear, to avoid both conflicts of interest and the appearance of such conflicts.

7. Ethical Conduct of Research

All members of the University community engaged in research are expected to conduct their research with integrity and intellectual honesty at all times and with appropriate regard for human and animal subjects. To protect the rights of human subjects, all research involving human subjects is to be reviewed by institutional review boards. Similarly, to protect the welfare of animal subjects, all research involving animal subjects is to be reviewed by institutional animal care and use committees. The University prohibits research misconduct. Members of the University community engaged in research are not to: fabricate data or results; change or knowingly omit data or results to misrepresent results in the research record; or intentionally misappropriate the ideas, writings, research, or findings of others. All those engaged in research are expected to pursue the advancement of knowledge while meeting the highest standards of honesty, accuracy, and objectivity. They are also expected to demonstrate accountability for sponsors' funds and to comply with specific terms and conditions of contracts and grants.

8. Records: Confidentiality/Privacy and Access

The University is the custodian of many types of information, including that which is confidential, proprietary and private. Individuals who have access to such information are expected to be familiar and to comply with applicable laws, University policies, directives and agreements pertaining to access, use, protection and disclosure of such information. Computer security and privacy are also subject to law and University policy.

Information on the University's principles of privacy or on specific privacy laws may be obtained from the respective campus or laboratory information privacy office.

The public right to information access and the individual's right to privacy are both governed by state and federal law, as well as by University policies and procedures. The legal provisions and the policies are based upon the principle that access to information concerning the conduct of the people's business is a fundamental and necessary right of every person, as is the right of individuals to privacy.

9. Internal Controls

Internal controls are the processes employed to help ensure that the University's business is carried out in accordance with these Standards, University policies and procedures, applicable laws and regulations and sound business practices. They help to promote efficient operations, accurate financial reporting, protection of assets and responsible fiscal management. All members of the University community are responsible for internal controls. Each business unit or department head is specifically responsible for ensuring that internal controls are established, properly documented and maintained for activities within their jurisdiction. Any individual entrusted with funds, including principal investigators, is responsible for ensuring that adequate internal controls exist over the use and accountability of such funds. The University has adopted the principles of internal controls published by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations (COSO) of the Treadway Commission.

10. Use of University Resources

University resources may only be used for activities on behalf of the University. They may not be used for private gain or personal purposes except in limited circumstances permitted by existing policy where incidental personal use does not conflict with and is reasonable in relation to University duties (e.g. telephones). Members of the University community are expected to treat University property with care and to adhere to laws, policies and procedures for the acquisition, use, maintenance, record keeping and disposal of University property. For purposes of applying this policy, University resources is defined to include but not be limited to the following, whether owned by or under the management of the University (for example, property of the federal government at the National Laboratories):

- Cash, and other assets whether tangible or intangible; real or personal property;

11. Financial Reporting

All University accounting and financial records, tax reports, expense reports, time sheets and effort reports, and other documents including those submitted to government agencies must be accurate, clear and complete. All published financial reports will make full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosures as required under generally accepted accounting principles for government entities, bond covenant agreements and other requirements. Certain individuals with responsibility for the preparation of financial statements and disclosures, or elements thereof, may be required to make attestations in support of the Standards.

12. Reporting Violations and Protection from Retaliation

Members of the University community are strongly encouraged to report all known or suspected improper governmental activities (IGAs) under the provisions of the Policy on Reporting and Investigating Allegations of Suspected Improper Governmental Activities (Whistleblower Policy). Managers and persons in supervisory roles are required to report allegations presented to them and to report suspected IGAs that come to their attention in the ordinary course of performing their supervisory duties. Reporting parties, including managers and supervisors, will be protected from retaliation for making such a report under the Policy for Protection of Whistleblowers from Retaliation and Guidelines for Reviewing Retaliation Complaints (Whistleblower Retaliation Policy).

HMOs

More on UC Medical Plans

Choosing doctor = choosing group

If you choose an HMO, you must also choose a Primary Care Physician (PCP). When you pick your PCP you are also choosing, in advance, the medical group to which your doctor belongs—as well as the specialists and hospitals that you may use for non-emergency care.

The table to the right shows the availability of major, local medical groups by plan.

The table below shows the hospital affiliations for local medical groups. Groups may choose to refer you to other facilities.

Always check with your insurance company to verify the availability of your medical providers. If you intend to see a new doctor, also verify availability with that doctor's office. To search for a PCP, use your plan's website.

Medical Groups	UC Blue & Gold HMO (Health Net)	Kaiser Permanente/ Kaiser Senior Advantage
Hill Physicians	✓
Mercy Medical Group	✓
NorthBay Healthcare
Permanente Medical Group		✓
Sutter Independent Physicians

Mercy Medical Group	Carmichael: Mercy San Juan; Folsom: Mercy Folsom; Sacramento: Mercy General, Methodist Hospital of Sacramento

Sutter Medical Group, Solano	Vallejo: Sutter Solano Medical Center
UC Davis	Sacramento: UC Davis Medical Center
Woodland Healthcare	Woodland: Woodland Memorial Hospital

Special points of interest:

- ◆ Kaiser contracts with one large group, the Permanente Medical Group of Northern California, and members must use Kaiser hospitals & pharmacies. Kaiser offers hospitals in Roseville, Sacramento & Vacaville.
- ◆ Your insurance company will usually let you change PCPs and groups mid-year; simply call the plan to request a change.
- ◆ If you don't choose a PCP, you may be assigned one.
- ◆ Core Medical, UC Care, UC Health Savings Plan, UC High Option, UC Medicare PPO, and UC Medicare Choice members are not limited to pre-paid medical groups and are not required to choose a PCP.

Special points of interest:

- ◆ The table above shows major Davis/Sacramento area medical providers and their general PPO network status.
- ◆ Always check with your insurance company to verify that they contract with your providers. If you intend to see a new doctor, also verify availability with that doctor's office. Medical providers contract with PPO networks individually; not all doctors/hospitals/labs/etc. within a medical group necessarily contract with the same PPO networks.
- ◆ PPO = Preferred Provider Organization. Preferred providers cannot "balance bill" (charge more than their contractual rate with your plan). Anthem Preferred providers (and UC Select providers for UC Care) are considered In-Network because they have a contract with your plan. Out-of-Network providers have no contract limiting what they can charge; the patient is responsible for balance billing. To search for Anthem Preferred providers: ucppoplans.com/nh/find-a-provider
- ◆ For retiree plans where Medicare is the primary payer (UC High Option, UC Medicare PPO): Any Medicare provider can be used; see www.medicare.gov to search for providers. Exception: services covered by your plan but not covered by Medicare (e.g. acupuncture). Note: Sutter primary care physicians are not accepting new Medicare patients in Davis/Sacramento.
- ◆ For the retiree Medicare Advantage PPO plan UC Medicare Choice (UnitedHealthcare), any Medicare provider can be used; see www.medicare.gov to search for providers. Note: providers bill UnitedHealthcare, not Medicare.

Ergonomics is the science of fitting workplace conditions and job demands to the worker. Proper ergonomics can assist with reducing employee injury, increase job satisfaction and productivity.

I. Scope

- a. The ergonomics program at UC Davis Health covers staff at the Hospital, PCNs, Ambulatory Care clinics, and off site locations.
- b. The goal of the program is to prevent and minimize the effects of work related injuries caused by repetitive motion, or musculoskeletal risks.
- c. The program promotes ergonomics through on-line self-assessments, individual ergonomic reviews, task specific assessments, body mechanics, and patient handling training.
- d. Other ergonomic services include, chair fittings, demo/loaner equipment program, and pre-move space/equipment reviews.
- e. Areas covered include office settings, laboratory, patient care areas, and industrial and other non-office settings.
- f. The ergonomics policy 1625 can be found on the Policy & Procedures web page.
http://intranet.ucdmc.ucdavis.edu/policies/hospital_policies_and_procedures/index.shtml

II. Ergonomic Risk Factors

- a. Repetition
- b. Awkward postures
- c. Contact Stress
- d. Force
- e. Static postures

III. Common Repetitive Motion/ Musculoskeletal Injuries

Information relating to injuries and treatment plans can be found on the Employee Health Services web page.

http://www.ucdmc.ucdavis.edu/hr/hrdepts/ehs/injury_fact_sheet.html

- a. Tendonitis
- b. Back/Neck Strain
- c. Epicondylitis
- d. De Quervain's Syndrome
- e. Trigger Finger

IV. Control Strategies to Minimize Risk Factors

- a. Engineering Controls
 - i. Improving the design, or providing equipment to eliminate the risk

UCD Health ERGONOMICS PROGRAM

Common Computer Workstation and Work Habit Recommendations

Avoid Awkward Neck Positions

A. Avoid trapping the phone between your ear and shoulder. Doing so takes your neck out of an upright position and requires tension in the neck/shoulder muscles to shrug your shoulder.

Possible solutions:

1. Hold the phone with your hand
2. Use a headset

B. Assure you are not tipping your head up to see the monitor, a common problem for bifocal users.

Head Tipped Up – Incorrect

Upright head position-Correct

Possible solutions:

1. Lower the monitor
2. Raise your chair. Be sure to adjust keyboard and mouse height to maintain them at elbow height.
3. Lower contents on the computer screen so you no longer have to tip your head up to see them

C. Avoid sustained bending of your neck when viewing documents used for computer work or during deskwork.

Head Bent Down – Incorrect

Upright Head Position with Inclined Copy - Correct

Possible solutions:

1. Use a document holder for items needed when on the computer.
2. Incline items on your desk when writing. A 3-ring binder notebook can serve as a reading/writing board.

D. Avoid extreme turning of the neck to see who is behind you

Extreme Turn of Head - Incorrect

Turning chair - Correct

Possible solutions:

1. Get in the habit of turning your entire body instead of just your neck
2. Mount a mirror in front of you so you can view what is behind you without turning

Keep wrists straight

- A. Assure keyboard remains flat for straight (neutral) wrist positions. Lower flippers on back side of the keyboard.

Keyboard Legs Up, Wrists Bent—Incorrect

Keyboard flat, Wrists Straight - Correct

- B. Work with keyboard and input device (mouse, trackball, touchpad) at your elbow height for straight (neutral) wrist positions.

Keyboard Below Elbow Height – Incorrect

Keyboard at Elbow Height— Correct

Mouse Below Elbow Height – Incorrect

Mouse at Elbow Height - Correct

- C. Use two hands when lifting large medical records, books, or binders. Use of two hands allows you to control your wrist position and requires less grip force.
- D. Avoid side to side wrist movement when using the keyboard and input device. Side movement of the wrist increases if you rest your wrist firmly on a wrist rest. Allow your arm to move to the location needed instead of keeping your arm in a fixed position and deviating your wrist to the side.

Excess Reaching/Wrist Deviation – Incorrect

Move Arm/Straight Wrist - Correct

Wrist Deviation with Mouse – Incorrect

Move Arm/Straight Wrist - Correct

Reduce input device (e.g. mouse) use

- A. Use arrow keys when possible instead of the mouse
- B. Use enter key instead of clicking mouse when dialogue boxes are highlighted
- C. Learn and use short cut keys for commonly used functions. For a listing of short cut keys for a given program, open the program then search “help” for shortcut keys.
- D. Alternate mouse use between right and left hands.

Reduce hand tension

- A. Avoid resting palms of hands on a wrist rest when typing. It is fine to rest the palms between typing movements, but not recommended when actively typing. Resting when typing results in excessive reaching with the fingers to reach the keys and this increases tension in the hands.

Resting Wrists Results in Excess Reaching with Fingers - Incorrect

Instead, allow the wrists to remain straight with hands curved. Reaching the keys is done through small movements at the shoulders to move the hand over the key to be struck.

Curved Hand Position - Correct

- B. Type quietly. Many individuals press the keyboard keys with more force than necessary. The louder your typing, the harder you are pressing. Try to type quietly and be soft on the keys.
- C. Slow typing speed slightly. Increased typing speed requires increased hand tension. By slowing your typing speed even 5-10%, you can greatly lessen hand tension.
- D. Lighten and release grip on mouse. Check your grip on the mouse and try to lighten. When not actively using the mouse, remove your hand from it to release tension in your hand.

Tight Grip on Mouse – Incorrect

Relaxed Hold on Mouse - Correct

- E. Lighten your grip on writing pens and pencils. Use of wider diameter pens and/or pencil grips tends to lighten grip. Use of RollerBall or very fine felt tip pens encourages use of lighter grip when writing.
- F. Microbreaks interrupt hand tension. Microbreaks are 30-60 second breaks that allow the body to rest from activity. Gentle stretching of the neck, shoulder or forearms can be done in conjunction to microbreaks. Taken on a regular basis (every 30-60 minutes), microbreaks can prevent build up of neck, shoulder, forearm and hand tension.
- G. Focus on normal breathing patterns to reduce muscle tension.

Prevent Eye Fatigue

- A. Control glare on the computer monitor.
 - a. When possible, orient the computer monitor perpendicular to any outside room windows. If this is not possible, control window light through use of window coverings.
 - b. Avoid tipping the monitor excessively since this may cause glare from overhead lights. Instead, raise the monitor from the base.
 - c. Assure task lighting does not reflect into the monitor as a source of glare.
 - d. Use a glare screen if glare cannot be avoided
- B. Avoid having a bright light source behind or directly over the monitor
 - a. Avoid placing monitor in front of an outside window. If this is not possible, control window light through use of window coverings.
 - b. Avoid placing monitor directly over a bright light source. If this is not possible, control the amount of light through use of existing light switches and/or asking to have lighting diminished.
- C. Assure contents on monitor are easily seen
 - a. Adjust distance from monitor to avoid straining to see contents
 - b. Modify text size as needed
 - c. Modify screen contrast/color as needed
- D. Avoid extended periods of constant computer work. Include a change in eye focus distance with regular microbreaks
 - a. Focus on distant items to change eye muscle position
 - b. Shut or cover eyes to allow eye muscles to rest

Staff Advisors to the Regents: A Resource for UC Employees

Just like you, the Staff Advisors are UC employees yet they serve as an information channel between staff and UC leadership. They are at the table for every UC Regents meeting, helping to make sure UC leaders understand the views and concerns of UC staff regarding workplace issues and policy decisions. They listen to staff and bring that input to their discussions with the regents, the president and other university decision-makers.

To contact the Staff Advisors, please visit their website: www.universityofcalifornia.edu/staffadvisors/.

Annual Events

Health system employees are invited to take part in the following events held on the Davis and Sacramento campuses.

Davis Campus

Picnic Day

This family friendly event is free for all to come and experience the richness of diversity and achievement at UC Davis and the surrounding community in the areas of research, teaching, service and campus life.

Whole Earth Festival

Whole Earth Festival was born when an art class taught by Jose Arguelles had an “Art Happening” on the University of California, Davis campus in 1969. The students used art to involve visitors in the ultimate goal of learning about activism, wellness, and the environment. Whole Earth Festival aims to ignite passion, propel creativity, and leave visitors with inspiration.

Following the United Nations declaration of “Earth Day” in 1970, the third “Art Happening” in 1971 was renamed “Whole Earth.” Later, Whole Earth Festival was sponsored by the Associated Student’s Experimental College, and has since become a self-sustaining unit. The Whole Earth Festival has evolved over four decades into what can be seen every Mother’s Day weekend on the U.C. Davis campus.

UC Davis Health Employee Giving Program

JOIN YOUR COLLEAGUES
TODAY!

What is the Employee Giving Program?

The Employee Giving Program is designed to build and reinforce the culture of philanthropy at UC Davis Health, and provides an easy way for employees to give back to any area at the medical center. You can give a one-time gift, pledge, enroll in the payroll deduction program or speak with one of our staff about including the health system in your estate plans.

Payroll Deduct Program Specifics

The minimum commitment is $5 per paycheck, per fund, for a minimum of six months – that's the equivalent of giving up one coffee drink per pay period!

What area(s) can I support?

The Employee Giving Program provides many opportunities to support your passions at the health system. You can direct your support to any area in the health system.

How do I get involved?

You can sign up by completing a payroll deduct enrollment form online at pledge.ucdmc.ucdavis.edu and choosing the fund(s) that you would like to support. Please allow up to 30 days or 2 payroll cycles for all requests to take effect.

I already give so much of my time to UC Davis Health. Why should I contribute financially?

Philanthropy is a personal decision, and while your contributions as an employee are immeasurable, making a gift -- no matter the size -- is a wonderful way to support transformative teaching, innovative research and breakthroughs in health care.

Are my gifts tax deductible?

YES. Your gifts are tax deductible and you will receive a summary of your contributions through the payroll deduction program at the beginning of the year, for your prior year of giving.

Can I make an anonymous gift?

Absolutely. You can indicate that you wish to remain anonymous when you make your gift.
